

Supplementary Fig. S7. Spatial distribution of observed (first column) and predicted (second and third columns) species richness (SR) for native species (first row), archaeophytes (second row), neophytes (third row), and red-list species (fourth row). The results for the full model are in the middle column, while the model without anthropogenic variables is in the third column. The white areas denote unsampled squares.

